HomeFront Announces Newest Reseller of its Home Building Software Suite

FCA Technologies chooses HomeFront Software Suite to complement current software product offerings which include Sage Timberline Office and Sage Master Builder.

Falls Church, Virginia & Calgary Canada – January 14, 2010

HomeFront Software™ (www.homefront-software.com), a developer of home building and construction management software, has announced the addition of FCA Technologies (www.fcatech.com) as an authorized reseller of the HomeFront Software Suite. Headquartered in Falls Church Virginia, with offices in Baltimore Maryland and Richmond Virginia, FCA Technologies is a Sage Authorized Business Partner that provides software, consulting, and IT solutions to the construction industry. By adding HomeFront Software to their product offerings, FCA Technologies can deliver an affordable and complete end-to-end home building software solution that's integrated with Sage Timberline Office and Sage Master Builder.

“We are very excited about partnering with HomeFront and being able to offer the best possible builder management solution to our clients,” said Steve Rogers, Partner at FCA Technologies. “With the residential market rebounding, savvy builders are looking to upgrade their back office systems so they can handle more business without adding overhead. The builders we work with have found HomeFront to be easy to understand and implement. The combination of Sage and HomeFront enables builders to improve all areas of their business.”

HomeFront Software offers the unique ability to manage sales, estimating, purchasing, scheduling, and service and warranty within one integrated construction management system. It provides a full suite of home building management tools including:

- CustomerBuilder powered by Sales1440 – sales and customer relations management
- PrecisionBuilder – estimating and purchasing management
- ProfitBuilder – production management
- ProjectBuilder – scheduling management
- QualityBuilder – service and warranty management
- Field PO Request – online purchase order system
- BuilderWeb Portals – web tools for shopper, customer, and vendor management

Because HomeFront Software is integrated with both Sage Timberline Office and Sage Master Builder, customers of FCA Technologies will benefit from a complete construction management system without having to replace their current job cost and financial accounting software by Sage.

“The addition of FCA Technologies as a reseller of our HomeFront Software Suite is further confirmation of what we've learned from the construction industry over the past 15 years,” said Daryl Shenner, CEO at HomeFront Software. “Home builders need a complete construction management system that’s affordable and easy to use. We're gratified that FCA Technologies has chosen HomeFront Software as an integrated component of Sage Timberline Office and Sage Master Builder.”
